Arbi Arredobagno expands the Ho.Me Plus range with the new 45° variant:
greater flexibility and practicality for every bathroom

Arbi Arredobagno - a company synonymous of expertise and reliability which combines high production capacity with a particular attention to style and design - expands the Ho.Me Plus range with the new 45° variant which combines wisely linearity of shapes and practicality.

From a stylistic point of view, the distinctive element of the model is the door with a 45° cut which acts as a handle grip integrated into the front. This feature, in addition to a greater ergonomics of the grip, emphasizes the modern and contemporary aspect of the compositions.

To the rich selection of thermostructured melamines inspired by the authenticity of wood, from natural grains to classic or trendy colours, the Ho.Me Plus 45° range introduces ten new shades in matt lacquer, for an uncompromising style.

Versatility represents the essence of the Ho.Me Plus project, emphasized even more by the new 45° variant. The minimal design and the symmetry of the shapes are essential characteristics of the Ho.Me Plus collection which includes numerous solutions capable of creating a bathroom where comfort and practicality blend. To ensure maximum customisation, Ho.Me Plus is available in different variants: with smooth door and handle, with integrated "J" handle grip and the curved version with bases with soft lines to satisfy even the needs of optimizing even the smallest spaces .

The possibility of inserting open elements, shelves or other accessories present in the Arbi catalog into the design compositions, allows you to create dynamic and personalized configurations. This flexibility gives life to environments characterized by the perfect balance between design and functionality.

Aesthetics, attention to detail and quality are the values that have always guided Arbi Arredobagno in the continuous search for innovative design, giving to an increasingly wider and more transversal clientele the opportunity to bring original and totally made in Italy furnishings into their daily lives.
